Mean number of letters from the target to the participant's input for the reading task during testing.
Only participants with deviant scores are shown.
Red bars show participants with high mean nLEDs.